
South County Museum Presents

Charting History

Navigating the Currents of Rhode Island's Past

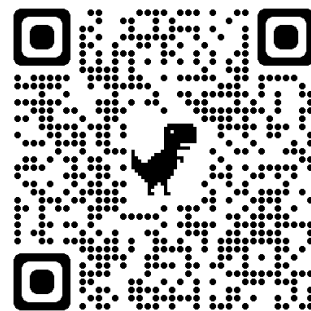

On view during regular museum hours from June 7th-22nd

Charting History is a traveling panel exhibition that tells one cohesive, chronological, and thematic narrative of Rhode Island's history. It follows the major threads of commerce, conflict, and conscience to tell the stories of RI and the people who have lived here throughout history up to the present-day. This exhibit is designed to introduce visitors to Rhode Island's rich and varied past.

This exhibition, a joint project of the Newport Historical Society and the Rhode Island Historical Society, was made possible by a grant from the Alletta Morris McBean Charitable Trust.

Reception June 12th from 6pm-8pm

The reception is $10 or free to members RSVP using the QR code or go to southcountymuseum.org/events

Newport
Historical Society
History Starts Here

RIHS
THE RHODE ISLAND HISTORICAL SOCIETY
A SMITHSONIAN AFFILIATE

South County Museum and School of Craft